LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS

It is strongly recommended that all applicants have a good command of the English language.

Chinese institutions of higher education generally use Chinese as instructional language. Applicants with no command of Chinese are generally required to take Chinese language courses for 1-2 years before their major studies.

Undergraduate programs are instructed in Chinese. Applicants with no competency of Chinese are generally required to take Chinese language courses for 1-2 years before starting their academic programs. Only by passing the examinations after the college preparatory courses, students can start their university studies.

- 1 year of Chinese language training is required for studies in the following fields:

science, engineering, agriculture, medicine (western medicine), economics, management and law.

- 2 years of Chinese language training are required for studies in the following fields:

literature, history, philosophy, and medicine (traditional Chinese medicine, Chinese herb medicine)

Some courses set for general scholars, senior scholars and postgraduate students in some universities may be conducted in English. Please refer to the Directory of Chinese Higher Education Institutions.

Note: Students are not permitted, in principle, to change their subjects, institutions or the duration of study specified in the Admission Notice and Visa Application Form for Study in China (JW201).

PREPARATORY COLLEGE EDUCATION

According to the regulation of MOE, applicants for undergraduate studies leading to a bachelor's degree in the fields of science, engineering, agriculture, medicine, and economics, are required to take a one-year foundation courses (preparatory education). These courses include the fundamentals of Chinese language, mathematics, physics and chemistry. Students who pass the examinations of foundation courses can start their undergraduate studies on time, as specified in their Admission Letters. As stated in the chart above, this preparatory period is contemplated in the scholarship.

Tianjin University, Nanjing Normal University, Shandong University, Beijing Language and Culture University, Huazhong Normal University, Tongji University and Northeast Normal University are the institutions designated by CSC to offer the foundation courses in the 2012/2013 academic year.

BENEFITS OF THE OAS-CHINA SCHOLARSHIPS²

1. Registration, tuition, laboratory experiment, and internship fees. Costs of the laboratory experiment or internship beyond the university's arrangements should be covered by the student.
2. Basic learning materials fee that covers the necessary learning materials required by the host institution. Other materials shall be the expense of the student.
3. Accommodation on campus, in shared dormitories and bathrooms. Students who wish to be provided with private accommodation will have to specifically request this at the time of their application and cover the costs themselves.
4. Living monthly allowance provided to students by the host institution at the following rates (CNY Yuan per month):
 - Undergraduates: CNY 1,400 Yuan
 - Chinese language students: CNY 1,400 Yuan
 - Master degree students, general scholars: CNY 1,700 Yuan
 - Doctoral degree students, senior scholars: CNY 2,000 Yuan

² The provision and payment of all scholarship benefits, together with all arrangements necessary for assuring the Scholarship Recipient is able to complete his/her intended course of studies in China, are the sole and exclusive responsibility of the Government of China, except for the visa, travel to and from China, and certain course materials, which are the sole and exclusive responsibility of the Scholarship Recipient. Therefore, the acceptance of a scholarship shall imply the Scholarship Recipient's waiver of any and all claims against the OAS, its organs, and its personnel, that may arise in relation to the scholarship, the benefits thereof, and his/her presence in China under the scholarship, and if asked, the Scholarship Recipient will reaffirm that waiver in writing.

Scholarship holders shall receive their monthly allowance after registration. New students who register before the 15th of the registration month will receive the full amount of the living allowance of that month. Those who register after 15th will receive half amount of that month. Scholarship recipients will receive an additional living allowance equivalent to 15 days, after the graduation date set by the university. The allowance will be terminated the month after the student suspends, drops, or completes his/her studies. Monthly allowance covers school holidays and can be received during or after the holiday break. For those students who do not register on time without permission from the university, leave for non-health reasons or are absent from the university for over a month, the allowance will be suspended for one month.

Students who have to suspend their studies because of serious health reasons should return to the home country and cover their own airfare. The living allowance will be suspended at the time of departure. With the university's approval, the scholarship status can be reserved for a maximum of one year. The scholarship will be terminated for those who suspend their studies for other reasons.

5. An initial Accommodation Allowance: After registration the following lump sum will be paid upon arrival in China:
 - CNY 1,000 Yuan for new students who will study in China up to six months
 - CNY 1,500 Yuan for new students who will study in China for one academic year or more
6. Outpatient medical service and a Comprehensive Medical Insurance and Benefit Plan for International Students in China fees. Fee for outpatient medical service refers to the outpatient expense in the institution's hospital or the hospitals entrusted by the institution. The students should pay for a certain percentage of expense in accordance with the institution's relevant regulations. Comprehensive Medical Insurance and Benefit Plan for International Students in China is provided by MOE (Ministry of Education of China) to scholarship students in case of serious hospitalizing and accidental injuries. The institutions or the entrusted medical assistance agency provide advancement service for insurance expenses, and claim for compensation with relevant payment receipts from the insurance company according to the stipulated insurance articles. The claim of individual student will not be accepted by the insurance company.
7. Inter-city travel subsidy (each for coming-in and leaving China). Scholarship students are supposed to choose the nearest port to their admitting institutions for inter-city travel and a hard-seat train ticket (hard-berth train ticket for overnight trip) will be provided for new scholarship students transferring from the port of entry in China upon registration to the city where the admitting institution or Chinese language training institution, preparatory education institution is located. Transportation will also be provided for students transferring from the Chinese language training institution or the preparatory education institution to the city where the university is located, as well as for students transferring from the city where the institution is located to the nearest port for departure upon graduation. Expenses for food during the trip and excess of baggage are the responsibility of the student.

IMPORTANT THE STUDENT WILL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR COVERING:

1. Some of the learning materials
2. Roundtrip air tickets.
3. Student visa fees³

Note: Students might be charged some set-up fees upon arrival in China (i.e student ID card, internet, rent deposit, residence permit, bank account, etc). We recommend students to bring between US $300 and $500 to cover those settlement expenses while the first scholarship disbursement takes place.

³ CSC will issue a certification letter that selected candidates must take to Consulate or Embassy of China to obtain proper travel visa.

SELECTION OF INSTITUTIONS AND SPECIALTY

Applicants may choose one academic program and up to three institutions as personal preferences from the list of Chinese higher education institutions designated by MOE. Please check the Directory of Chinese Higher Education Institutions Admitting International Students under Chinese Government Scholarship Program & Academic Programs or the website of CSC (<http://en.csc.edu.cn/Laihua/Search.aspx>) for details. Applicants are required to fill in their preferences of institutions and academic programs strictly in accordance with those listed in the Directory.

SELECTION PROCESS AND NOTIFICATION OF AWARD

1. CSC will assess all the application documents and CSC reserves the right to make necessary adjustments to the proposed institutions, specialties and duration of study. Qualified applications will be forwarded to the academic institutions and they will forward their nominations to CSC for agreement. Applications will be regarded as invalid and will not be accepted, if they fail to meet the enrollment requirements or if the application documents are incomplete.
2. If overseas applicants for degree programs with exemption of examinations are academically ineligible to the proposed programs, the institution reserves the right to decide the academic program they could attend or whether to give them conditional offers for their proposed programs. Students who attend Chinese language courses prior to their university study or those who attend the college preparatory program must pass the university entrance examinations or other examinations required before they start their major studies. Students attending the college preparatory program, who fail to pass the required examinations within the allotted period will finish studying in China as a language student, hence they will not begin their undergraduate/graduate course of study in China.
3. Applicants are required to enclose the relevant admission notice from Chinese Higher Education Institutions, if they have one, in the documents submitted to the OAS. Scholarship applicants academically accepted by Chinese HEIs will be officially awarded the Chinese Government Scholarship with the approval from CSC.
4. Students are required to sign their Admission Notice, if they have no objection with the placement, and are not permitted, in principle, to change their specialties, institutions or the duration of study specified in the Admission Notice.
5. The OAS and the CSC will conduct a joint pre-selection process in late April 2012.
6. The OAS will officially announce the scholarship awards in July 2012, and will forward Admission Letters and Visa Application Forms for Study in China (JW201) to the selected candidates starting in August 2012.
